YOEMEN WIN DISTRICT 26-B FLAG

"Our Town" by J. B. White

Sometimes a change in the habit of thought is an excellent thing. It serves to lift us out of the rut. It gives us a new conception. Frequently it is productive of astonishing results.

That is why we were interested in a brief report of a talk given by the head of two companies engaged in the manufacture of nationally known aids to the comfort of living. It was his idea that business men were on the wrong track in thinking wholly in terms of "buying power" and that recovery could be vitally advanced by thinking more in terms of "selling power." He called upon the experience of his own companies to illustrate how the public can be convinced of the importance of buying. Executives in these companies, he said, did not look at tax or income lists or employment records to appraise a territory, but counted on effective salesmanship to awaken the market. "Wherever we have replaced the notion of depressd opportunity with the idea that if we get to work we can still find and make enough business to be successful, our men, our branches and our business have been successful," he said.

Development of that experience into a theory of general applicability, this industrialist went on to say that he believed the greatest service that may be done for American business and for the American people would be the organization of a national selling campaign. Expanding that thought, he contended that "it is not irrational to say that the proper inspiration, moral support and incentive given to the multiplied thousands of America's great army of salesmen would stir up enough dormant money and credit as to be the surprise of the business world."

Doubtless there are those who will scoff at this notion. Still, here is an industrialist who has found that an application of the old adage of looking up and looking forward has produced practical and satisfactory results. That experience may represent the difference between sitting and waiting and getting up and doing.

Amid all the storm and stress of economic and political struggles one admitted fact stands out. It is that times are a little better than they were at this period last year. One has but to go outdoors and observe the altered expressions encountered on the streets. We have something to be really thankful for this year. People—just people—are happier than they have been for a long time. They have more money to spend and they are spending it.

Not everybody, of course. There are still too many families with private troubles. But the point is that there are not as many as in the days gone by. There is a general air of the worst being over. Better clothes are being worn, there are many new cars on the roads. There are many new homes going up in cities and towns. The food stores reveal an added activity. And after Thanksgiving Day has become history there will be more old-fashioned merriment at Christmas unless all signs fail.

It has been a hard time for practically everybody. But the skies are clearing. The anchor of hope is firmly grounded. This is still a rich country, possibly a little richer for what we have gone through. The lessons of experience have not all been away. The command is Forward!

He is one of the brightest prospects in recent years for college football.

NO SCORES ON YOEMEN

Taylor finished second, losing one game to Cameron. Belton is third with a game and a half loss. Belton lost to Taylor and tied with Cameron. Cameron tied Caldwell in an early season game. Only one conference game remains to be played between Belton and Rockdale Friday night in Rockdale.

BADLY MAULED BY TIGERS IN ROUGH BATTLE THEY TIE BELTON AND ARE VICTORIOUS

A bit of defensive genius with the traditional offense thrown to the winds saved the Yoemen Friday night when they held Belton to a scoreless tie and thereby won the conference flag for district 26-B.

The scoring punch that had piled up many points against opponents was completely missing. The Yoemen never flashed an offense. On the other hand, they threw Belton back from their own 5 line once and twice the Tigers gnawed their shin bones on the 12 yard line. It was on the whole one of the best defensive battles ever won by a Yoemen team.

Joe McLean, an otherwise conference back choice, was bottled up and made to behave. The back field attack was carried to the jaws of the Tigers by Earl Peck who played the best game of his career and Dero Underwood who begged for the ball, got it twice and made 30 yards. Fifteen yard penalties flew thick and fast in the game, Cameron drawing two and Belton more.

Early in the first quarter Clifford Guess, the redoubtable red head, thrown in at guard by a desperate coach at the beginning of the season, and who came thru with great brilliance, was taken from the game. In his place went the yet untried Harry Hughes. Let it be said that Hughes not only lived up to Yoemen tradition but earned a place in the hall of fame to say nothing of reassuring the coach for two more seasons. He is in his sophomore year. His performance lost nothing to the Yoemen line when Guess was taken out of the game.

The Yoemen went into the game with Stewart, left end out with the mumps. Thus the line was crippled. Fifteen plays had been developed for the game, many of them built around this star end who lay with puffed jowls in his bed, far from the scene of battle. In his place Floyd Hatch played one of the best games of his career and what the backfield lacked in punch the line made up in brilliance and heroic defensive play.

Mulhollan, powerful Belton back, kicked off to Cameron with Dero Underwood receiving the ball on his 30 yard line and returning to his 33 yard line.

Cameron's Ball

McLean, fearful of losing the ball deep in his own territory, took the first pass from center and booted a long punt down Belton's 27 yard line.

NEW CHEVROLET IS GREATLY IMPROVED

Chevrolet's new passenger cars for 1937, comphising two new series of six models each, were introduced with public showings throughout the United States. Master models are available with semi-elliptic front springs only. All models of both series have safety plate glass all around at no additional charge.

Body Line Change

Although the cars are described as new from bumper to bumper, the change most obvious outwardly has to do with body lines. A new treatment, described as "diamond crown speedline styling," represents a distinct departure in design, and produces an impression of added fleet-

On the first down Underwood took the ball, broke loose and ran 30 yards for another first down. Vannoy then went for 4 yards thru right tackle and on the next play Peck, an alert Yoeman back, intercepted a pass and was downed on his 22 yard line by Vannoy.

Cameron's Ball

On a lateral pass from Peck to McLean, McLean gained 5 yards. Turner then picked up 2 yards at center after which McLean drove through the line for a 3 yard gain and a first down. McLean then heaved a long forward pass to Peck which was complete and good for another first down.

On the next play McLean attempted another pass but was intercepted by Vannoy who was downed on his 42 yard line.

Belton's Ball

Vanny took the first pass from center and dashed around right end for a 2 yard gain. Again Vannoy took the ball picking up a yard at left tackle. Then after Sherrod had failed at the line, Mulhollan punted and the ball was killed on Cameron's 30 yard line.

Belton's Ball

In the next play a forward pass from Vannoy to McQueen was complete and good for a first down. Vannoy then carried the ball over center for a two yard gain. On the 3rd down and after Sherrod had failed to gain at center, Poole intercepted a pass from Vannoy and returned to his own 45 yard line but officials called the play back and Vannoy attempted another pass to Wilson which was incomplete. On the last down, Mulhollan punted across the Yoemen goal line and the ball was put in play on the 20 yard line.

Cameron's Ball

Today people are no longer satisfied to settle down around the fireside. Modern life keeps us going so fast that we have forgotton how to say "whoa." If there isn't something to do almost every night, the people say they can't stand the boredom.

But the long winter evening under the living room lamp produced a quiet mind for the next day's work, and people learned many things they needed to know.

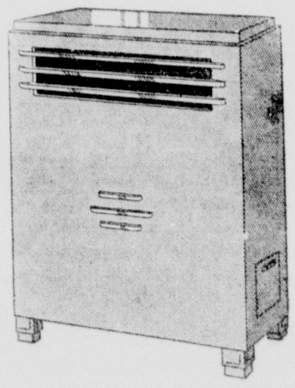
at a price you can afford!

BETTER health is only one of the extra savings of gas circulated heat. Many men who have already installed this advanced heat tell us their families are happier, healthier and more comfortable. For men in moderate circumstances who want their families protected against the discomfort of inadequate house heating, gas circulated heat offers comfort at a price they can afford. It is healthful heat because it is circulated. It knocks cold spots and drives out chilling drafts. It maintains an even temperature. It is clean and care-free. You can afford it because of low installation cost and cheapness of your natural gas service. Investigate gas circulated heat today.



Compare gas-circulating heat with any other system. You can heat with gas for no more cost than other fuels. There is a circulating heater to fit practically every need. And one can be installed on the easiest kind of terms.

"OLD HUTCH"

"Old Hutch," which comes to the Cameron Theatre Friday and Saturday, November 20 and 21 is the story of the man who is known in every town in America.

There is more than mere wealth of humor in this new character who comes in the person of Wallace Beery. He is the essence of rich good humor, but beyond that he symbolizes the easy tolerance of America, the quiet acceptance of fate in the last analysis, the fiery individual who, when driven to fight, does it with his whole soul, his strong body and two good fists.

Most people will recall the story of "Old Hutch" which was written by Garret Smith and appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. It is the account of a "no account" in the eyes of harsh critics, but a lovable man nevertheless. He is the laziest man in town and fishing is at once his business, his pleasure and his hobby.

Eric Linden and Cecilia Barker, provide the romantic touch in the new picture and do it with excellent taste. The supporting cast includes Robert McWade, Elizabeth Patterson, Caroline Perkins, Julie Perkins, Delmar Watson, Harry Watson, James Burke, Donald Meek and Jean Chatburn.

"DIMPLES"

Singing, dancing and dimpling her way once more into millions of hearts Shirley Temple's new Twentieth Century-Fox triumph, "Dimples," coming to the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday November 22 and 23.

Hailed as Shirley's wonder show, and featuring swingy new song hits and brand new dance steps, "Dimples" is heralded as the outstanding hit in the little star's parade of brilliant triumphs.

An exceptional cast, headed by the irrepressible and inimitable Frank Morgan, supports Shirley in the film, with Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn, Delma Byron, the Hal Johnson Choir and Stepin Fetchit prominently featured.

With Morgan and Stepin Fetchit contributing hilarious laughter, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn and Delma Byron youthful romance, Helen Westley and Berton Churchill providing stirring drama, and Shirley better than even her previous bests, "Dimples" is the greatest in the succession of Shirley Temple pictures.

"MY AMERICAN WIFE"

A fine cast of stage and screen veterans, a neatly designed screen play and expert direction make "My American Wife,"Francis Lederer picture with Ann Sothern, which comes to the Cameron Theatre Thursday November 19.

Lederer, of course, is both charming and convincing in his role, as he has been in every motion picture in which he has appeared. Ann Sothern, lovely, exotic, and capable of handling the story's breezy, romantic dialogue, proves herself a perfect movie team mate for the European star.

"My American Wife" is romance, handled in a light, refreshing manner. Designed especially for its stars, and filmed by Director Harold Young, it provides an unusually fine bit of screen farce.

ness and grace. The change, however, goes deeper than appearance, for the bodies are entirely new. They introduce unisteel construction, in which solid steel turret top, steel side panels, steel double cowl, and steel floor are welded together to form permanently unit. Even the doors are of steel.

New Chassis

The bodies are mounted on a chassis which is also new, with the new six-cylinder high compression valve-in-head engine developing 85 horsepower, new box-girder frame combining rigidity and lightness, and hypoid rear axle drive gears.

Chevrolet engineers emphasize the fact that the 1937 models adhere closely to engineering principles which Chevrolet has developed thru constant improvement year after year. They are more compact, with a gain in strength and a reduction in weight. Better hill-climbing and acceleration, with marked smoothness, durability and economy, characterize the performance of the entire new line.

New Safety, Comfort

Both th ebody and chassis refinements contribute to noteworthy advances in safety, comfort, driving ease, and general owner satisfaction. The use of hypoid gears has lowered over-all height, and with it, the center of gravity, a change which, in conjunction with wider-spaced rear springs, and larger cross-section tires on wider rims, makes for greater stability on the road. The power plant and the body are re-located on the frame, the body being longer and wider, with floor 2 1-16 inches lower than the 1936 Master De Luxe. The increase in width of floor at the floor line in the front compartment is almost five inches across the front wind shield level, 1 1-2 inches, and between the doors across the front seat two inches. Wider windshield and larger windows increase visibility and contribute much to safety.

Luggage Room

Ample provision for luggage is made in every model. Town sedan and sport sedan in each line have spacious trunks, and models without trunks or rear decks have commodious space behind the seat. Each model also has a package ledge across the top of the rear seat, as well as a locking compartment in the instrument panel.

New Engine

The same power unit is used in both series. It is entirely new, and is introduced as the highest refinement of the valve-in-head design, for which Chevrolet has been known over a long period of years. In it, the bore is increased from 3 5-16 to 3 1-2 inches, and the stroke reduced from 4 to 3 3-4 inches, the displacement being stepped up from 206.8 to 216.5 inches, and the compression ratio raised from 61to-1 to 6.25-to-1.

The crankshaft of the new engine has four bearings instead of three. Bearings are of the steel-backed babbitt type. The 68 pound crankshaft is counter-balanced and equipped with harmonic balancer, lighter and more sensitive than previously employed. Lighter, dome-head pistons, shorter and stiffer connecting rods, four bearing camshaft, and manifolding system with thermostatic heat control, are among he power plant's other new features.

Driving Ease

Driving ease is increased, and durability enhanced, by the completely new Syncro-Mesh transmission in the new models. It is more compact and rigid, and the synchronizing mechanism is improved through the use of simplified cone clutches.

Sedan, Coach, Business Coupe, Sport Sedan with trunk, and Town Sedan with trunk are available in both series. In Addition, there is a Sport Coupe with rumble seat in the Master De Luxe series, and a Cabriolet with rumble seat on the Master chassis, finished with de luxe appearance features.

Editorial

Book Week! What a dull sound that has to many a Yoe High student. Yet it's purpose is not to bore them, far from it, but to make them happier, better informed, more interesting people. The appreciation of books, find those who read them, is one of the most important things schools contribute to the education of pupils, because though they may not gain much from the books they read while in school, those same books teach them how enjoyable books can be. Thus they read worthwhile books for the rest of their lives, gaining a broad outlook on life an interesting personality, and, last but not least, a well rounded education.

What a difference books can make in a person's life! Histories show you the mistakes of others and how to avoid them; biographies the achievements of great men and women and how they reached their goals; poetry the beauty of the thoughts and emotions as well as the beauty of nature. Fiction takes us into imaginary worlds of adventure and excitement.

Yoe High May Have Largest Of Graduating Classes

Records in the office relative to pupils of rural schools entering Cameron schools are complete for the year 1936-37 and show that 236 pupils have been transferred for this school year.

The senior class, as a result of the large number coming in, is the largest in the history of Yoe High. At one time this year, the total of students was 132, but because of withdrawals, it was reduced to 128.

If all pupils remain and graduate, this will be the largest graduating class on the records of Yoe High School.

A Armistice Pageant Revised Courses

The spirit of Armistice Day was carried out in assembly on Wednesday in the high school auditorium.

Jim Baskin, Sr. gave a talk on his experiences during the world war. His talk was followed by a Peace Pagent given by Miss La Nelle Love's Dramatic Club. Those taking part were: Billy Cooper, J. T. Owings, Charles Sprott, Lee Harvey, the dead; Ella Bess Haygood, the nurse; and Woodrow Lange, the soldier.

Books to Grow On, surely! All these and many more types of literature certainly have an important hand in life today. Think what this world would be without books—what an ignorant race ours would be if it were not for books, those eternal bearers of light and humanity, civilization and joy.

Who's Who In Senior Class

JANE ALLEN

Jane Allen, one of this year's many additions to Yoe High School, entered school here as a senior. In her freshmen year, she attended school in Temple. Her sophomore year found her in Waco, and the last school from which she hailed was Marlin. In Marlin, Jane was a member of the Spanish, H. E., Choral and Commercial clubs.

She has become an accomplished dancer and teaches dancing of different types. Her favorite color, she says, are all bright ones. Her favorite "hit song" is "Did I Remember?"

Jane is going to continue her dancing career after she finishes high school and intends to take some courses in diction and dramatic, After that, what? Well she might end up in Hollywood. As Julius Caesar said, "Who can tell?"

FLORENCE TERRY

Florence Terry has enjoyed Yoe High school championships since she was a sophomore. She entered school here from Minerva. This senior girl helped urge the football heroes to victory in her sophomore and junior years. As a member of the pep squad.

Florence is the chief typist in the Press Club this year. After she graduates she expects to take a post-graduate course and continue to play in the band.

Photos Are Grim Reminders of War

A very effecive library bulletin board was arranged two days before Armistice Day. Four large pictures were exhibited—one a picture of unknown soldier's grave; another, the horrors of the next war; another a picture of a man watering flowers on a soldier's grave and the fourth, a battlefield strewn with the remnants of men, and of animals, and of machines designed to kill them.

The following quotation was placed in the center of the board: "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares; and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war and more.

The latter part of the week, the board featured the Statue of Liberty and its history.

Thomas Jackson visited the Centennial Saturday and Sunday.

Following the Team Around

Well, it's over! Winning all but one game and tying that, the Yoemen have not been scored on this season and are district champs.

Friday's game with Belton was a hectic one. Both teams made wild gains on land and air. The Yoemen goal line was threatened twice, but both attacks were repulsed.

Jimmie Stewart was certainly missed. The Yoemen had several chances to score or get in position to score, but muffed them because of incomplete passes. Jimmie is the best pass receiver on the team. This Yoeman end has the mumps at present but will be able to contend in the bi-district contest Friday week.

The next game will be played with Mart or Itasca and will probably be on the home field.

The courses of sudy for the remaining five classes will be received later.

Pep Rally

The pep rally for the Cameron-Belton game was held in the Cameron City Park Thursday night.

E. A. Perrin started the bonfire. While it burned Rev. O. C. Acrey and Penn Wolf gave pep talks, after which the band, followed by the pep squad and citizens of Cameron, paraded through town.

to contribute to the Chest to meet the needs of these associated charity organizations and character building movements.

The total amount received to date is $1930.00. This represents only one third of the amount necessary to discharge the obligations incumbent upon this community.

Teams in charge of the canvass have not yet contacted everyone but those who have not been seen will be called upon within the next few days. Subscriptions will be published as they are received by Albert Collins, chairman of the committee.

Anyone who has not been contacted by the committee may make their pledge by mailing their remittance to Homer McLane, secretary.

It can be seen by figures to date that the chest drive is far short of its goal and serious consideration must be given to the matter of making the canvass a success.

If all will do their share little trouble will be had in raising the amount necessary. In many of the business houses employes are forming clubs and pooling their contributions.

Present plans are being made to have old Santa Claus meet with the smaller children in a building where they may shake hands with him and receive candy ahead of parade time. This will be done to avoid the rush of older young people that usually follow the parade and get most of the candy.

A few years later he moved to Oklahoma and lived two years and then returned to Milam county where he farmed.

Interment was made in the old Cameron cemetery, east of Cameron, where a number of pioneer citizens of Cameron and Milam county are buried. Mr. Crawford was laid to rest by the side of his wife, who preceded him in death a number of years ago.

Newest Member of Governor Allred's Cabinet Is Keeper of Seal and Records of Texas

Austin, Nov. 11.—The newest member of the Texas official family—B. P. Matocha, secretary of State—brings to his office a vast pride in this state, in which his parents settled when they came from the old country, and an overwhelming pride in the young governor who elevated him to his present post in August of this year.

Mr. Matocha comes from Cameron, Milam county. He lived in that county all his life, with the exception of 18 months spent in Washington during the world war. He worked in the espionage department in the general postoffice.

And quite as jealously as he now guards the treasures in the state archives he guards an unsolicited letter from Postmaster General Burleson praising him for his work in censoring the foreign language newspapers.

Could Spot Propaganda

From his parents he learned the Czech tongue of their native Moravia. He read Polish and Slovak and with a little study of the characters found he could read Russian readily enough to spot any propaganda which might come in through the foreign language newspapers while the nation was at war.

In September, 1935, Matocha was called from Cameron to become an attorney in the securities division of the secretary of state's department. Last August Governor Allred named him secretary of state. And one of the fine things which has come to him in the few months he has held the office has been the recent amendment to the state constitution increasing the salary from $2000 a year to $6000.

Division Under Him

A mild mannered, modest spoken man of middle years, Mr. Matocha is quick to talk of the service being rendered the state by members of his staff. He talks with reticence of his own work. Under his supervision are the various divisions of the department of state. The securities division, which he formerly headed, now has as its director D. Leon Hart. Marlin Sandlin heads the charters division. W. C. Cason heads the franchise department. W. W. Halcomb is head of the executive department. In charge of trademarks is Mrs. William Yelderman, a former assistant attorney general. To Mrs. Yelderman apply firms desiring to register their trademarks to do business in Texas, either Texas or foreign firms.

"This department has been functioning well under these heads," Mr. Matocha points out, "but we are suffering from a $9000 cut in appropriations for the year." He has hopes that the next legislature will restore the appropriation to its usual size—around $67,000.

"My wife says I worry too much," Mr. Matocha said with a little smile, as his glance traveled out to the sloping green of the capitol lawn. "I suppose I do. But there is much to be done."

His Other Duties

The secretary of state is secretary ex-officio of the state planning board and chairman of the health division of the planning board. He will go to Jacksonville this week to attend a meeting of this board to discuss a state sanitary code for Texas.

When Director Hart of the securities division refuses a dealer's license, as was the case with a Dallas cultivator firm recently, and an appeal is taken, both sides are argued before the secretary of state. He listens to the dealer's argument and he listens to the state's argument. He takes the case under advisement and hands down a decision. Sometimes a question arises as to whether an application for a charter is to be granted, and this is passed on to the secretary of state for ruling.

Among his other duties, the secretary of state is keeper of the great seal of the state.

This seal is affixed to all state documents and all must travel thru his office to be stamped before they become official.

Keeper of Records

He is the keeper of Records. In his files are all the official documents of the state, archives of the legislature down the years, proclamations issued by the various governors of Texas, original bills after they have been signed by the governor, laws of the Republic of Texas—all repose in the vaults of the secretary of state.

And Mr. Matocha thinks something ought to be done about a most systematic arrangement for keeping these valuable documents.

"The records are not complete," he points out. "We have searched in vain for some of the priceless old documents which should be here in the capitol. From time to time we run across additional ones, but many of them will never be found.

"If there was any systematic arrangement for the keeping of these documents, future Texans would not be faced with the embarassment of gaps in the state's official records."

Had to Have Rangers

The Texas Centennial Commission ran into Mr. Matocha's unyielding zeal as a watchdog of the state's treasures recently when a request was made to borrow some of the original documents of the Republic of Texas to exhibit at the Centennial in Dallas.

"I turned down the request," he explains. "They took it up with the governor, and we worked out a plan whereby they would have rangers transport the documents from the capitol vaults to the Centennial, guard them while they were on exhibition and return them to us in person."

This has not yet been done, but probably will be early next year. Documents, including the constitutions of Texas, from the days of the Republic until 1876, will be placed in the Hall of State for interested Texans to see and study.

"Of course the records of what is being done today are potentialy as important as the historical ones," he explains, "but the responsibility for things which could never be replaced weighs heavier."

Texas has proved a happy land for the Czech parents who came from Moravia before he was born. It has given him an opportunity to become a useful and influential citizen in Milam county, where he served for six years as city attorney at Cameron following his return from Washington.

"My wife felt like she was coming home when she moved to Austin last summer," he explains. "She is a graduate of Seton Infirmary, where our daughter, Rosalie, is now training." Mr. Matocha's sons, B. P. Jr., Paul and Francis, are all in school in Austin, the eldest at the Junior University, and the youngest at St. Austin's Parochial School.

"I have just one purpose as secretary of state," he declares, "and that is to help make Governor Allred's administration the most successful in the history of the state. He is sincere and serious, and entirely worthy of the best efforts of all of us."

BASKETBALL TEAM WORKOUTS BEGIN

The basketball season is getting its steam up for a big run in Yoe High this week. Thirty one boys have reported to Coach Ruggles for practice and about ten more can be expected as soon as football season is over.

Most of the boys lack experience, but are learning to handle the ball rapidly.

Rural schools, such as Buckholts, Jones Prairie, Yarrellton, Maysfield, and Ad Hall are represented in this wealth of material. There are plenty of "rafter scrapers" in the bunch and it looks like Yoe High will be well represented in the big tournament which will soon be held here. Coach Ruggles declined to comment on the worthiness of his team, saying "Time will tell."

The boys who have reported are: Garvin, Erck, Yager,, Lott, Birkleback, Harber, Atkinson, Kennedy, Cotton, Walzel, Blankenship, Krall, Heath, Stewart, Lazek Crowell, Hatch, Allen, Kubecka, Moore, Goodwin, Baldwin, Gann, Tallent, Barrett, Griffin, Griswold, Groppell, Baldwin, Alexander and V. Walzel.

POSTED NOTICE

This is to give notice that the 232 acre farm and pasture being a part of the Ledbetter and Wilson tracts on Bear Creek is posted against hunting or tresspassing in accordance with law and anyone who violates these provisions will be prosecuted. This place is rented by E. J. Horlica, Frank Horlica and Pete Horlica who have the same in charge.

Mrs. Hardy Scarbrough and Miss Maurice Scarborough visited a daughter of Mrs. Scarborough, Mrs. Loyce Phillips of Gladewater over the week end.

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Thedford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

Further Reports

—on banking show added indications of strength and stability.

OUR previous advertisement in this series described the fine progress in American Banking as reported by both state and national bank supervisory officials.

Another particularly significant item, recently issued by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at Washington, D. C., stated that the banks and trust companies which had borrowed money from it have repaid 75% of their loans. The R.F.C. was organized in 1932 to aid banks in meeting the abnormal demands of the times. Since that time about 7,400 banking institutions have received from it advances of $1,900,000,000 of which they have returned $1,400,000,000. This has been made possible through the strengthening of their own financial conditions and the return of public confidence and stability.

This bank is an integral part of the nation's sound and serviceable banking structure.
